Preface

I present this thesis as part of the requirement for the MSc Course on Medical Anthropology and Ethnobotany jointly organized by the Universiteit Leiden and Universitas Padjadjaran TWINMAP Programme 2001-2002. In this study, I am interested in the knowledge, belief, and practice of patients with regard to the Primary Prevention of Hypertension Programme in North Jakarta and I am also interested in herbal medicines that are used for the treatment of hypertension.

The study is conducted in the Koja hospital in North Jakarta, Indonesia and is sponsored by Universitas Trisakti.

I would like to express my gratitude to the various persons and institutions which contributed to my study:

Universitas Trisakti, for providing the financial support and dr Julius E S SpMK and dr Fajar Arifin MS for their support.

Universiteit Leiden and Universitas Padjadjaran, especially Drs. L. E. H. Vredevgd, MA, President of Universiteit Leiden and Dr. M. van Rooijen, Director of Leiden University Worldwide Program for their generous support. Prof. Dr. L. J. Slikkerveer; Mrs. Drs. Mady Slikkerveer, MA; Dr. W. Dechering; Dr. H. Van Wilgenburg; W. E. Schrader, MD; Drs. A. de Groot MA; Drs. Hans de Bekker MA for their lectures and support; and Prof H. A. Himendra Wargahadibrata, dr, SpAn, KIC and Prof. dr. Ponpon S. Idjradinata, SpA(K) for their generous support; Dra. Prihatini A, MSc; dr. Eman M, MSc; Prof. Dr. Dr. Muchtan S; Johan I PhD; dr. Sharon G, MARS; dr. Hanny P. I, SKM; dr. Henni D, MARS; Dr. Dedi M, MA. PhD; Dra. Wina E, MA; Dr. Anas S, MSc; Ir. Tarkus S, MSc. PhD; Dra. Siti Chaerani DA, MA for their lectures and supervision during the fieldwork, Wulan and my friends in the TWINMAP Programme for their support and the research assistants for their great assistance in the field.

The Koja hospital and all my colleagues, for allowing and helping me to conduct this fieldwork training.

Finally I would like to thank my parents, my lovely wife Nova and my lovely son Joey for letting me travel around to Leiden and waiting for my return. To them I owe my love.
